

KEYSTONE TRIBUTE AWARD

The National Federation of Music Clubs is an organization dedicated to the promotion of music in America. Through its competitions and scholarships it has been fostering young musical talents since the founding in 1898. Many of these scholarships have been awarded in the past to those musicians aspiring to be concert performers.

The Pennsylvania Federation of Music Clubs, a member of the National Federation, believes that a strong music background is necessary for students to carry on the great American musical traditions. Without enjoyable musical experiences and inspiration at an early age many talented musicians would never realize their full potential. This can be achieved only with encouragement and inspiration coming from exceptional school music teachers.

With this in mind, the Pennsylvania Federation is offering a $600.00 award to a qualifying music student who wishes to teach general music education in a public or private school. Following is a list of requirements necessary to apply for this Keystone Tribute Award.

Student must:

1. Be a resident of Pennsylvania and entering the junior or senior year at a Pennsylvania college or university.
2. Show documentation as a music education major and current grade point average.
3. Submit a letter of recommendation from a current music instructor.
4. Submit a composed letter indicating the reason for selecting a music education major.
5. Submit related application form.

Applicants should send forms and related materials by July 1st before the beginning of the junior or senior year of study.
